

ABSTRACT

A backpack type hair dryer with a heated air bonnet includes a housing having a pair of shoulder straps positioned on a front surface for securing the housing to a wearer's back. A hot air blower assembly is mounted on the rear surface of the housing. A flexible hose is connected to the blower assembly and includes a wearable head bonnet at a distal end. Accordingly, a user can dry his or her hair while simultaneously wandering and performing other tasks.